Stars and Bars: Pop Culture and Prison Although they stand at the opposite end of political spectra in many ways, popular culture and prison are two undeniably quintessentially American phenomena. This introductory American Studies course examines the rise of mass incarceration since World War II, focusing on popular constructions in film, TV, and communications (news) media. Students will be introduced to American studies methods of popular cultural interpretation and to some brief histories and activist framings of prisons and punishment.

In this course, students will begin to explore the personal, institutional, political, and cultural forces that impact the lived experience of being a professional teacher
Possible key questions for reflection include: How does self-knowledge help teachers positively shape their professional lives? How does school culture shape the day-to-day life of teachers and how do you identify a school culture that is right for you? How does the current emphasis on standardized testing impact the life of a teacher and how can teachers positively respond to this? What does it mean to be a "role model" and what are the challenges and opportunities presented by this social role? What does community mean and how are teachers participants in and facilitators of positive community?
Exploration of these questions will occur through student centered, hands-on, and interactive classroom activities

Above class meets on Wednesdays, time TBA, once every three weeks, starting the first week of classes.
This is a colloquium open to all interested music students held once every three weeks for three hours (with a break) by Profs. Andrew Mead (Music Theory) and Florence Sitruk (Harp) on the question "what is musical taste?"
We will discuss debates of the early 18th (Quantz, C.P.E. Bach and Mozart) and 19th Century (Wackenroder, Tieck) on the subject, as well as look closely at philosopher Jacques Derrida in the 20th century and his essays on political correctness. We will follow the question "does political correctness influence our judgment on taste?" All these are vital questions for musicians interpreting scores of composers. We will have guest speakers and expect a vivid round of discussions.

This is a colloquium open to all interested music students held once every three weeks for three hours (with a break) by Profs. Andrew Mead (Music Theory) and Florence Sitruk (Harp) on the question "what is musical taste?"
We will discuss debates of the early 18th (Quantz, C.P.E. Bach and Mozart) and 19th Century (Wackenroder, Tieck) on the subject, as well as look closely at philosopher Jacques Derrida in the 20th century and his essays on political correctness. We will follow the question "does political correctness influence our judgment on taste?" All these are vital questions for musicians interpreting scores of composers. We will have guest speakers and expect a vivid round of discussions.
