This course is designed to be blended/flipped format relative to a traditional class. Students are expected to invest time outside of class to complete all of the recorded lecture videos, textbook and other assigned readings lecture quizzes and weekly assignments. Class time is used in a variety of ways including "bench to bedside" lectures, practice in inquiry based activities, but are NOT substitutes for out of class reading. There is an increased emphasis on learning how to read scientific literature, communicate science for a general audience through creative assignment, technical writing and designing and interpreting experiments

++Consult Final Examination Schedule to avoid conflicts						This course is designed to analyze and investigate sustainability reporting topics, including environmental, social, and governance through multiple stakeholder lenses, including present and potential investors, managers, the media, consumers, and jurisdictions. We will explore sustainability reporting as it relates to traditional financial reporting, analyze regulatory requirements around the world, and investigate stakeholder roles in sustainability reporting. To accomplish these goals, we will investigate current and proposed sustainability standards at the general and industry-specific level and evaluate multinational companies' sustainability reports.

VT: MEDIA MESSAGES: POWER AND IDEN

34342 ARR ARR WB WEB Haus K

What can we learn from TikTok, advertisements, and movies? More broadly, how does the media depict race, gender, class, and sexuality as well as the intersection of these identities? In this course, you will learn how to creatively analyze and critique messages of power, knowledge, and social structures in media. You will also use innovative methods, such as poetry, photography, and collage to explore your identities and challenge taken-for-granted messages about race, gender, class, and sexuality

-------	--	---------------	---	---------	----------

TOPIC : Mind-Body Skills Group

In a highly interactive, small-group setting, explore and practice evidence-based mind-body techniques useful for intentionally connecting with your mind and body; regulating your autonomic nervous system(responsible for the "fight or flight" response); and tapping into your internal wisdom.

Skills we will explore include: meditation (concentrative, expressive, and mindfulness), visualization, imagery, body scans, and more. No experience with the use of these skills is necessary. Come as you are, ready to learn about how these skills can be a valuable component of your personal wellness and self-care hygiene routine.

Above class is part of the School of Education's Professional

Distinction Series

Above class requires mandatory participation in 4-5 in-person workshops

This course is designed to assist the transformation from student to teacher. It allows students to delve more deeply into areas of interest by attending workshops and events in the School of Education; often these experiences include learning from alumni teachers, principals, and other administrators who are currently in the field. Taken entirely at the student's pace, the class includes attendance at live School of Education professional development events (either in-person or on Zoom) followed by reflective writing submitted via Canvas

Above class meets first eight weeks only Above class is part of the School of Education's Professional Distinction Series
In this course, students will begin to explore the personal, institutional, political, and cultural forces that impact the lived experience of being a professional teacher. Possible key questions for reflection include: How does self-knowledge help teachers positively shape their professional lives? How does school culture shape the day-to-day life of teachers and how do you identify a school culture that is right for you? How does the current emphasis on standardized testing impact the life of a teacher and how can teachers positively respond to this? What does it mean to be a role model and what are the challenges and opportunities presented by this social role? What does community mean and how are teachers participants in and facilitators of positive community? Exploration of these questions will occur through student centered, hands-on, and interactive classroom activities

Above class for Exploratory freshmen in University Division
In this small class, we will build a warm, supportive learning community where you will discover more about who you are and what you want as you connect with how to seek meaning and purpose in your education. As we continue our work together, you will make new friends and learn how to build strong relationships with your own personal support team of academic advisors, career coaches, professors, and many other helpers and guides on campus. You will also learn new ways to upgrade your skills to deepen your learning and meet the challenges of college academic work. Finally, throughout our travels on this road, we will engage in rich conversations and equip you with useful tools on the journey as you figure out how to make important decisions about classes, majors, and how those choices can connect to a life of fulfilling work, service to others, continued learning, and joy
Above class meets for the thirteen week session
